Foreword

Saipem Canada Inc. has adopted, in compliance with the Model stated in Saipem S.p.A.'s group organization, the following Organization, Management and Control Model ("OM&C Model" hereafter).

The OM&C Model has been adopted by Saipem Canada Inc. with the aim to comply with international control standards and with best practices, in order to prevent the commission of offences - in the interests or to the advantage of the Company itself - by:

- individuals who are representatives, directors or managers of the Company or of one of its organizational units that has financial and functional independence, or by individuals who are responsible for managing or controlling the Company (individuals in apical positions or "apicals");
- individuals who are managed or supervised by an individual in an apical position (individuals under the command of others).

In particular, this OM&C Model is aimed to prevent illegal behaviours in terms of corruption, extortion, money laundering, frauds and, in general, any offence that may be committed or attempted to be committed in the interests of or to the advantage of a company, setting forth disciplinary measures to be enforced in case of illegal behaviours in breach of laws, regulations and/or internal policies.

The OM&C Model has been drafted taking into account international regulations, referred to within international treaties against domestic or foreign corruption.

Further, the OM&C Model is inspired by the most updated laws for the prevention of "white collar" crimes, and specifically by protocols and precautionary measures ruled within the following regulations:

- The Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, enforced by the Government of the United States of America on December 19, 1977 (as amended in 1988 by the International Anti-Bribery Act);
- the Italian Legislative Decree 231/2001, enforced by the Italian Government on June 8, 2001 (as further amended)
- the Bribery Act 2010, enforced by the United Kingdom Government on April 8, 2010;
- the 2010 Federal Sentencing Guidelines Manual & Supplement, released by the United States Sentencing Commission on November 1, 2010;
- the Corruption of Foreign Public Officials Act, S.C. 1998, c. 34, in force in Canada as of February 14, 1999.

In this regard, at the meetings of November 18th, 2009, the Board of Directors of Snamprogetti Canada Inc. approved for the first time the OM&C Model. On January 8, 2013, Snamprogetti Canada Inc. formally amended its articles of association (please check) to change its name to Saipem Canada Inc. ("SAICA").

On January 30, 2015, the Board of Directors of SAICA has approved the update of the OM&C Model. The OM&C Model was integrated and modified taking into consideration:

- any changes in SAICA's corporate organization;
- any changes in Courts' decisions and legal literature;
- any remarks after the model application, including any experience from criminal proceedings;
- the practices of companies with regard to models;
- the results of supervision activities and the findings of internal audit activities;

The structure of the OM&C Model is described hereinafter:

- Saipem's Code of Ethics (chapter 1); the Code is, among other things a compulsory general principle of the OM&C Model.
- Risk analysis methodology (chapter 2).
- Tasks of the Compliance Committee (chapter 3), with the appointment and assignment of functions and powers thereof as well as definition of information flows to and from it.
- Addressees of the OM&C Model and extension thereof (chapter 4), with identification of the parties to whom the OM&C Model applies, definition of the rules for the extension of Model to subsidiaries, and of the principles adopted for communication to personnel and to the market, including the adoption of contractual clauses for relations with third parties, as well as for personnel training.
- Disciplinary system structure (chapter 5), with definition of sanctions appropriate for the violation committed and applicable in case of breach of the OM&C Model.
- Control tools (chapter 6), with identification of general transparency standards and supply management processes.
- Rules for updating the OM&C Model (chapter 7), providing for the innovation implementation program in case of legislative changes, significant changes in the organization structure or business sectors of the Company, of significant violations of the OM&C Model and/or relevant outcomes of checks for the Model effectiveness or of experience in the public domain in the sector concerned.

The OM&C Model is approved by resolution of SAICA's Board of Directors.

The task of implementing and updating the OM&C Model is entrusted to the Chief Executive Officer, by virtue of the powers granted to the latter. However, the task of updating the Model compulsory general principles ("General Principles") is entrusted to the Board of Directors.

These General Principles are:

- (a) Saipem's Code of Ethics (referred to in chapter 1).
- (b) Risk analysis methodology (referred to in chapter 2).
- (c) Compliance Committee's role and information flows (referred to in chapter 3).
- (d) Annual schedule of supervision activities (referred to in chapter 3).
- (e) Extension of the OM&C Model to subsidiaries (referred to in chapter 4).
- (f) Disciplinary system (referred to in chapter 5).
- (g) General standards of transparency in the activities (referred to in chapter 6).

(h) Innovation implementation program (referred to in chapter 7).

Provisions for the implementation of the OM&C Model are issued by the relevant departments. In particular, these provisions contain control tools in compliance with SAICA's OM&C Model.

The Compliance Committee keeps and releases to the relevant company departments the identification of "Sensitive Activities and Specific Control Standards of OM&C Model" approved by the Board of Directors, upon approval of the OM&C Model, and by the Chief Executive Officer, upon future updatings. Such specific control standards are encompassed within reference company procedures.

Saipem's Code of Ethics

FOREWORD

Saipem<sup>1</sup> is an internationally oriented industrial group which, because of its size and the importance of its activities, plays a significant role in the marketplace and in the economic development and welfare of the individuals who work and collaborate with Saipem and of the communities where it is present.

The complexity of the situations in which Saipem operates, the challenges of sustainable development and the need to take into consideration the interests of all people with a legitimate interest in the corporate business ("Stakeholders"), strengthen the importance to clearly define the values that Saipem accepts, acknowledges and shares as well as the responsibilities it assumes, contributing to a better future for everybody.

For this reason the new Saipem's Code of Ethics ( "Code" or "Code of Ethics") has been devised. Compliance with the Code by Saipem's directors, statutory auditors, management and employees, as well as by all those who operate in Italy and abroad for achieving Saipem's objectives ("Saipem's People"), each within their own functions and responsibilities, is of paramount importance, - also pursuant to legal and contractual provisions governing the relationship with Saipem – for Saipem's efficiency, reliability and reputation, which are all crucial factors for its success and for improving the social situation in which Saipem operates.

Saipem undertakes to promote knowledge of the Code among Saipem's People and other Stakeholders and to accept their constructive contribution to the Code's principles and contents. Saipem undertakes to take into consideration any suggestions and remarks of Stakeholders, with the objective of confirming or integrating the Code.

Saipem carefully checks for compliance with the Code by providing suitable information, prevention and control tools and by ensuring transparency in all transactions and behaviours by taking corrective measures if and as required. The Compliance Committee of each Saipem company performs the functions of guarantor of the Code of Ethics ( "Guarantor").

The Code is brought to the attention of every person or body having business relations with Saipem.

Any form of discrimination, corruption, forced or child labour is rejected. Particular attention is paid to the acknowledgement and safeguarding of the dignity, freedom and equality of human beings, to the protection of labour and of the freedom of trade union association, of health, safety, the environment and biodiversity, as well as the set of values and principles concerning transparency, energy efficiency and sustainable development, in accordance with International Institutions and Conventions.

CHAPTER 2

RISK ANALYSIS METHODOLOGY

2.1. Risk analysis and system of internal control

The identification of company activities which may entail the risk to commit the offences that this OM&C Model is aimed to prevent (hereinafter Sensitive Activity), is the result of company process analysis.

Each Sensitive Activity is associated with a reference person for individual company processes (Key Officer), as well as existing operational and management conditions, and existing control factors.

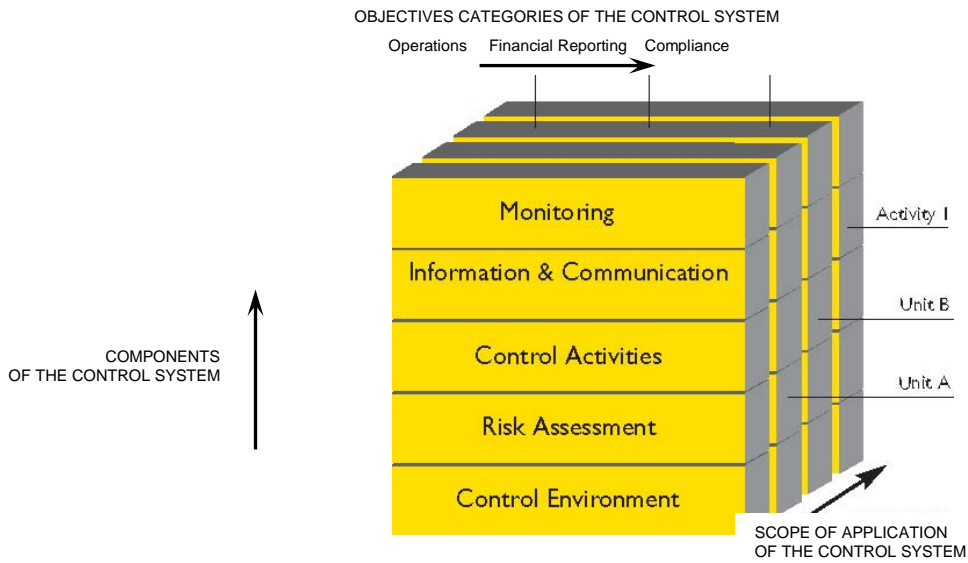

A comparative analysis is then carried out between the existing control environment and the principles and contents of the OM&C Model (in particular control tools).

According to the document issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations (CoSO) entitled Internal Control-Integrated Framework (CoSoIC-IF)<sup>3</sup>, the system of internal control can be defined as a set of facilities, procedures and tools prepared by management in order to ensure the achievement of the objectives of corporate functioning efficiency, financial information reliability, compliance with laws and regulations, and protection of corporate assets.

According to the CoSO Report, Internal Control – Integrated Framework, the system of internal control is made up of the elements shown below:

Control environment:

It reflects the attitudes and actions of Top Management with reference to control within the organization. The control environment includes the following elements:

- integrity and ethical values;
- management philosophy and style;
- organizational structure;
- assignment of authorities and responsibilities;
- personnel policies and practices;
- personnel's skills.

Risk Assessment:

Definition of processes aimed at identifying and managing the most relevant risks that may prevent the achievement of corporate objectives.

Information and Communication:

Definition of an information system (computer system, reporting flow, system of process/activity indicators) enabling both upper management and operational staff to perform the tasks assigned to them.

Control Activity:

Definition of corporate regulations ensuring an organized management of risks and corporate processes, and allowing to achieve set objectives.

Monitoring:

It is the process checking the quality and results of the internal controls over time.

The above-mentioned components of the system of internal control are taken into consideration for the analysis of the risk of violation of the OM&C Model.

In particular, the analysis activity (i) focuses on control environment design aspects, with the identification of sensitive activity types and – after analyzing actual applicability – a check for compliance with the standards applicable to each type of sensitive activity, (ii) is integrated into the overall updating of the risk map concerning all Saipem's structures drawn up by Saipem's Internal Audit department (except for the innovation implementation program pursuant to chapter 7).

The activity objective is to ensure maintenance and updating of the risk area identification, mapping and classification system for the purposes of supervisory activities.

CONTROL TOOLS

6.1. Structure of control tools

The tools aimed at preventing the risk of committing the offences referred to in the OM&C Model support compliance of Saipem's Code of Ethics<sup>4</sup>, a general compulsory principle of the OM&C Model, and are structured on two control levels:

1. general standards of transparency of the activities, which must always be present in all Sensitive Activities taken into consideration by the OM&C Model;
2. specific control standards, which contain special provisions aimed at governing the typical aspects of Sensitive Activities and which must be included in reference corporate procedures. These procedures indicate the OM&C Model among reference regulations.

General standards of transparency of the activities are:

- a) Segregation of duties: there must be segregation of duties between executing parties, controlling parties and authorizing parties<sup>5</sup>;
- b) Rules: company regulations must exist which are capable of providing at least general reference principles for governing sensitive activities;
- c) Signatory powers and powers of authorization: formal rules must exist for the exercise of signatory powers and internal powers of authorization;
- d) Traceability: the parties or departments concerned and/or the information system used must ensure the identification and traceability of sources, of information and of the checks carried out supporting formation and implementation of Company's decisions, as well as financial resources management modalities.

The competent departments ensure that the general transparency standards referring to Sensitive Activities are embedded into corporate procedures. Corporate procedures are communicated and disseminated by the relevant departments in compliance with applicable laws

<sup>4</sup> Compliance with the principles and contents of Saipem's Code of Ethics is also required for preventing crimes against individuals regarding female genital mutilation practices. In any case, any behaviours constituting physical or moral violence are forbidden without any exceptions.

- the segregation principle must take into consideration the sensitive activity within the context of the specific process in question;
- segregation occurs in case of codified, complex and organized systems where individual phases are identified and governed in a consistent way within management, with a consequent limitation of enforcement discretion, such as traced through the decisions made.

Specific control standards are embedded into corporate procedures referring to Sensitive Activities by the relevant departments. Reference corporate procedures are communicated and disseminated by the relevant company departments in compliance with applicable laws and contracts. The activity carried out is aimed at keeping the Model effective with the progression of time.

The task of drawing up the review of the OM&C Model is entrusted to the Chief Executive Officer who is also in charge of its implementation, according to the methodology and the principles provided for in the OM&C Model. In detail:

- the Compliance Committee reports to the Chief Executive Officer any information determining the need to update the OM&C Model;
- the Chief Executive Officer starts the Implementation Program, informing the Board of Directors about this;
- the Implementation Program is drawn up and enacted with the cooperation of the relevant company departments; the Implementation Program identifies the activities necessary for updating the OM&C Model with the definition of responsibilities, timeline and implementation modes. The relevant companies departments deals in particular with the identification of the legal and statutory requirements for the proper updating of the OM&C Model, as well as the modification and/or integration of Sensitive Activities and control standards;
- the results of the Implementation Program are submitted to the Chief Executive Officer, who approves them along with the measures to take within the latter’s field of competence and, as far as General Principles are concerned, proposes to the Board of Directors the approval of these results and the actions to be taken.

The Compliance Committee monitors the progress and results of the Implementation Program as well as the execution of the measures taken and informs the Chief Executive Officer about the outcome of these activities.
